

Editorial note for Journal of clinical psychiatry and Neuroscience

Rita Barakat*

Editorial Note

I am delighted to introduce pulsus journal clinical psychiatry and Neuroscience committed to publishing seminal research in the field of neurological studies with Special emphasis placed on clinical studies dealing with Psychotherapeutics drugs. I am pleased to announce that all the issues in volume 2 were published within the stipulated time along with print issues brought out and dispatched within 30 days of publishing the issue online during the year 2019.

The objective of PULJCPN is to publish up-to-date, high-quality and original research papers alongside relevant and insightful reviews. As such, the journal aspires to be engaging and accessible, and at the same time consolidative and challenging.

During the calendar year of 2019, PULJCPN received a total of 22 manuscripts, out of which 10 articles were rejected in the preliminary screening due to plagiarism or being out of the format and peer review process. During 2019 around 12 articles were subjected for publication after they are accepted in the peer review process. In the 3 issues of Volume 2 published during the year 2019, a total of 12 articles were published (at an average of 4 articles per issue) of which, articles were published from authors all around the world. Globally articles have been accessed by the research scientists and also cited.

I take this opportunity to acknowledge the contribution made by (Dr. Rita Barakat) during the final editing of articles published and the support rendered by the editorial assistant, in bringing out issues of PULJCPN in time. It is due to the support of our faculty advisors, the hard work of our editorial staff that we were able to bring out issues of PULJCPN in time. I would also like to express my gratitude to all the authors, reviewers, the publisher, the advisory and the editorial board of PULJCPN, the office bearers for their support in bringing out yet another volume of PULJCPN and look forward to their unrelenting support to bring out the Volume 3 of PULJCPN in scheduled time.
